And continues until every job in our house is sold. Last summer we contracted for extra advertising space in order to draw your attention to our sale; advertised a great and sweeping clean-up sale; stack to the letter to what we advertised, and as a result had the most satisfactory Buggy Sale ever held in Maysville carrying over one buggy only. This year we do not intend to have one rig left in our repository, and are marking the vehicles at such ridiculously low prices, and backing them up with such a strong guarantee, that you cannot help but buy if you are needing a rig of any kind. The case is this: We have the Vehicles and need the money; you have the money and need the Vehicles. Now is your opportunity.

We include in the sale all Buggies, Runabouts, Surreys, Phætons and Carts in our repository.

Don't you think it will pay you to investigate?

J. C. Everett & Co., the hustling and wide awake East Second street grain dealers, have added as a side line "Town Talk Flour," and that they have confidence that no better flour is made they advertise "money refunded and a premium of $1 given for every barrel of flour returned that is not satisfactory." Nothing could be more fair than that. Give them a trial order.

Mr. Crawford of Sardis in pulling his twohorse wagon across the streetcar track in front of Hoeflich's store in Market street yesterday morning twisted a hind wheel off the vehicle, spilled a load of |coal | and came near upsetting a buggy containing two ladies. The accident is the result of the car rail being about two inches higher than the road bed. The street is in bad condition and should be remedied at once by metaling the road and a search for health bringing it up level with the rail of the cartrack. The Judge had be

The water runs up the loose fibres of the cotton in the nubs of the RUBDRY and is instantly absorbed. You do not use a piece of hard finished writing paper to take up a blot of ink, you use a blotting paper; and why? Because it is made up of loose, hairy fibres which draw the ink up. That is capillary attraction.

The Nubs in the RUBDRY give the Friction. The RUBDRY is the product of American brains and Egyptian cotton.

KING EDWARD'S going to Bath should at least cause rejoicing among the Hague Peace party. That's better than going to war.

WE heard one man remark yesterday that Willson's speech lost him 50 votes in Mason county; while another man stated that the same speech made Willson 100 votes. To sum up, Gussie is 50 votes to the good.

THANKS to Providence, it appears that a new regime in state administrations is about to be ushered in at Frankfort, and a new deal with a new deck is to be given the people-not the marked cards which Governor Crapps has been skin-gaming the state with.

THE last saloon in Brooksville closed last Saturday. The county of Bracken is "dry" local optionally speaking, but we have it from a prominent citizen of Brooksville that the county is literally being flooded with liquor from Ohio and other states; besides the one distillery at Brooksville is working to its capacity in order to supply the great "drouth" which has followed the shutting up of the saloons. There is also talk of building a distillery at Augusta. Does local option prohibit?

GVERNOR BECKHAM might kindly step down from the executive chair and let one ARTHUR Goebel run things awhile. By the way, Goe-BEL has butted in about long enough.

What impressed Willson's hearers was his good nature and clear honesty of purpose. But the question still remains: Do the voters of Kentucky like men with honesty of purpose?

GOVERNOR W. S. TAYLOR: If you come back to Kentucky now and deliver yourself into the hands of the Phillistines, why-well, we will vote you an ass of the palest hue. BECK-HAM, HAGER and HALEY merely want to lash you to the Democratic chariot and exploit you over the state for machine political purposes. Stay where you are.

TALK about your lucky men, how is Br'er JIM ALLEN as a double-action four-time winner? Mr. Allen leaves next Tuesday for the Jimtown Expo-and that ain't nearly all. He is going to escort "his four winning contestants and a chaperon" and has 'steen pockets bulging with money from "said contest." But all this prosperity won't spoil the Harrison county boy. However, if he keeps on 'sociatin' with the Bluegrass beauties he is very liable to find himself with a wife on his-hands and in the humble Henry Peck class. The gals finally fool the best of men, and, after all, Editors are only men.

AND THIS IS LOVE!

We are offering ridiculously low prices upon standard Pianos, in some instances as much as $100 off! This marvelous state of affairs comes about through a number of causes, all legitimate as well as apparent. No secret about it, so listen: We do not buy our Pianos haphazard, taking whatever the manufacturer chooses to send us. We eliminate all the elements of chance. We personally go to the Fountain Head of Art, New York City, and patiently inspect numerous instruments, making difficult and minute comparisons, testing voicings, dictating a change of case design here, an adjustment in the action there, etc., etc. In consequence of which our pianos are marvels of art, their tonal qualities superb and their case designs an education in wood

A MOVING EPISODE

By CARROLL M. HERBST

"I've found the lovliest flat," began

Mr. Pepper laid down his paper and loked at his wife wearily.

"No doubt," he said. "This was a lovely flat when first you found it." "You know, dear, that the bedrooms are too small and the closets are-" "Yes, yes, I know. You've told me often enough. I wish we were savages and lived in a cave, and then whenever you wanted to move we would pick up the bearskin rug and the fire clay kettle and hike out to the lovely new cave you had just found.'

There were tears in Mrs. Pepper's

"O, go on and move, if you want to," he growled as he got up from the table. "Only don't bother me about it. If you have found a flat, rent it and move when you get ready. Let me know the day you are going to move and I will stay at the office till midnight, and by that time you will have things partially straightened out."

"You act more like a stranger than the head of the house," said Mrs. Pep per, reproachfully. "I wish I was," murmured Mr. Pep per under his breath, and with this enigmatical remark he left the house. "Well, I rented it-" said Mrs. Pepper that night. He interrupted her with a wave of his hand. "Not a word, not a word," he said. "You've rented it. That's all. When are you going to move?" "I'll let you know,' said Mrs. Pepper indignantly. She began to tear the house to pieces the next day, but he pretended not to notice the fact. A week later, when he came down to breakfast one morning, Mr. Pepper found the rugs rolled up and the chairs wrapped.

"We're going to move to-day," said Mrs. Pepper.

"You mean you are going to move." He put on his hat and threw his overcoat across his arm. "Well, I wish I could help you, but I'm awfully busy. Will have dinner downtown. Be home about midnight. So long."

He kissed her hastily and hurriedly. It really was the busy season for Mr. Pepper, and his day was full of worries. It was six o'clock when he left the office. He dined at a restaurant, and then went back to work at his books. At 11 o'clock he went home.

Mr. Pepper opened the door as usual with his latch key and ran upstairs and into his room before he struck a "Great Jupiter," he exclaimed, as the light flared up. The room was empty. "She has moved, of course. But where? Mr. Pepper did not know. He turned out the gas and went all next door for five minutes he succeeded in awakening Brown, who raised a front window on the second floor and looked down.

"What in the deuce is the matter? Who is it?" asked Brown.

"We've moved," said Pepper. "Do you know where we live now?" "No, of course not. I'll ask the bed. You can find your house in the morning.' "No, thank you," said Pepper. "She'll be crazy about me before morning I'll go back to the office. When she remembers that I don't know the new address she'll telephone.' At 12 o'clock Mrs. Pepper began to feel uneasy. She was tired to death from moving, but when she awoke from a short sleep at one o'clock she got up and dressed, and at two she waked the maid. "I know something has happened to Mr. Pepper, Freda. He never would stay away from home until this hour without sending me word. There's no telephone here, so I can't call him up.

Get up and dress. We must go and look for him." It was three o'clock when the two women got a belated night car for the city, and it was 3:30 when they reached the Temple of Commerce building. The door was locked, but after they had knocked for a minute the sleepy watchman appeared and let them in. "What's the matter?" he demanded. "Mr. Pepper. He hasn't come home. Is he here?'

"He was before midnight. There is a light in his office now. Let us go up and see. Are you his wife? All right, come on."

The elevators were not running, and it was a long, tiresome climb to the fifth floor and the watchman who had caught something of the panicky feeling opened the door of Mr. Pepper's office and peeped cautiously in. Mrs. Pepper was afraid to look.

Mr. Pepper was sitting in his arm chair with his feet on the desk slide. He was asleep. He awoke to find his wife weeping over him.

"Why didn't you come home? O, I've been so frightened.' "I didn't know where I lived," said Mr. Pepper sheepishly.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to leasn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hail's Catarrn Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby de-stroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The Miss Nellie Bartlett, who has been the guest proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. This is a trying time of the year. Many discomforts arise from the heat. The best way to be comfortable is by bathing often, at least twice daily, and by using a liberal quantity of talcum powder. By bathing often one keeps the skin clean and the power apen, thereby allowing the entire body to "breathe freely," which means perfect feath.

The best soap to use for the bath and toilet is Picard's Complexion Scap, a non-injurious, healthful soap.

Talcum powder keeps the skin cool, allays heat rash, stops chaffing and is an excellent toilet requisite. We have an excellent toilet requisite. a number of kinds.

Tickets on Sale For Eight Days-Should Mean a Record-Breaking Crowd.

The south has never witnessed a baloon race. For some time, contests of his kind have been quite a fad among the European aristocracy. At one or wo points in the north in this country they have been successfully carried on, out for the first time in the south a palloon race will be conducted at the Kentucky State Fair, to be held in ouisville, September 16 to 21. Constructed especially for racing purposes, and each in charge of a competent oprator, this feature of the big amusement program of the Kentucky State Fair can not help but prove a great

The balloons to be used during the week of September 16th at Louisville are exactly the same size. They will be released simultaneously, and will ascend to a height that takes them into an air current, when the race will begin. Ballasts of sand and the skill of the operator will decide the contest. For a time, the balloons will naturally be "neck and neck," as it were, then the operator who is most amiliar with air currents, and the manipulation of the ballasts, will succeed in forging ahead of his opponent.

At any rate, the race should prove as exciting as a speed contest on Mother Earth.
